

When does linguistic distance predict consumption?

Association across later consumption horizons and estimands.

